We're the Ones Who Make It Happen!!

Narbonne belongs to us, the students. We're the ones who set the pace, the trends, the mood and the way to go. Throughout the pages of this yearbook we hope to match the flavor of the year. One of triumph, struggles to succeed, and making it!!!

1. The end of a day, it's time now to prepare Narbonne for another day of activities.

Although Narbonne was the same school, there was a big difference in what went on inside. We entered the year uncertain of what exactly was going to happen. Due to a budget cut, sports were cut, teachers were cut, and sixth period was cut, as well as the little extra things that made school fun. But as the semester progressed, things started coming back. Through pressure by the coaches and teachers, sports were restored, the sophomores received their sixth period and the teachers that hadn't already been re-

Together We Can't Lose

All kinds of people make up our school, big, little, athletic, studious, quiet, loud, outgoing, shy, loners, and the big groups. To define Narbonne you'd have to cover each group, there's no dominant force that overpowers the rest. Perhaps that's why the rest of the area respects us. In the smog of the city, we're a breath of fresh air. We're strong and combined together we can't lose!

Oodles of activities were on hand every week to keep the student body activated, school isn't just study, memorize and test! There's the noon dances, rock concerts, assemblies and rallies to attend during the day, and evening dances, sock hops and plays to go to at night. Each week something new and interesting was happening on campus. It was almost impossible for one person to attend every single event! The turnouts for the assemblies and dances were the best ever, it was exciting for everyone, especially the shortened bell schedules! Yay! School was easy to swallow because of all those wild and wonderful activities! Don't even imagine school without them! Going to classes, nutrition, classes, lunch, classes, home to homework, and cramming for tests, wake up in the morning and the same old rut. We made school exciting by asking for and getting those events. If we wanted it, we knew "We're Going to Make It" happen, and successfully too!

Student Life

One In A Million

Varsity Football was victorious over the Comets in a 21 to 0 win, and our Killer Bees overcame Westchester 17-4 in a blazing defeat. Halftime activities included performances of band and pep units, a parade of cars headed by Mr. Bennett, to whom halftime was dedicated, and the '81 cheerleaders in fire trucks. Homecoming dance was held at the Long Beach Convention Center on Nov. 22, 1980. The music of the band Essence, ranged from disco to New Wave and supplied the background for a night full of dancing. A special dance was dedicated to the Homecoming Court which consisted of King Robert Woods, Queen Norfee Evans, junior prince and princess Scott Bailey and Lisa Shively, and sophomore prince and princess Randy Croyts and Linda Takata. The highlights included the band playing Devo's "Whip It", and John Lindsay dancing in his wheelchair. A night of romance, friendship, fun, and laughter, a night that was truly "One In A Million."

A New Beginning

Back-to-school means being with friends, meeting new people, doing homework and taking tests; but most important, back-to-school means getting an education.

Every fall we begin our school year in a similar way, but this school year began with a lot of confusion caused by the budget cuts. Because of the cuts many students were faced with the problem of transportation, and many seniors were worried about meeting their graduation requirements with only five classes. What concerned us most about the cut backs in classes and teachers was the loss of many of the elective and sports programs we've enjoyed in the past.

After an exasperating period, KHJ T.V. sponsored a telethon in which many people donated the money to restore our sports. Sophomores finally had their sixth period returned, juniors were left with five classes, and seniors were given a break when credits were lowered from a hundred and sixty-five to a hundred and sixty.

Yet, it doesn't matter how hard or how tough it was, we finally made it. The time has come for us to sit back, relax and to enjoy our well earned rest.

Orientation Assembly

It was a beautiful day, Sept. 30, 1980. Under the clear blue sky, all the students gathered around the football field for the Orientation Assembly.

Following the National Anthem played by the marching band, our Principal Dr. Browning, spoke of the many changes effecting us, the students and our school. Aside from all the speeches, the students were familiarized with the Varsity and Bee football team, and the new cheerleaders.

Finally our drill team, tall flags and small flags did their routine as the marching band played Fame.

Now, aren't you glad you were part of our great Orientation Assembly?

. . . Eighty-One

Did you ever wonder what was going on during lunch in the Circle Area? The Circle Area was the setting for many activities and rallies, many of which were sponsored by Student Government. The activities and rallies served to promote the clean campus campaign, to introduce the Sacsi Club, acquaint students with Varsity football players, and to stage several other rallies for the benefit of the student body.

The clean campus campaign was supported by such activities as the student-faculty whiffle ball game, the race between Varsity and Bee football players, and the crowning of Mr. and Mrs. Clean. The Circle Area was a source of information and involvement. Students learned of the clean campus campaign or school spirit and were involved in their success.

Ever wish you could see some of "Narbonne's Finest" in short skirts, and charming girls in football uniforms? If the answer is "Yes", we sure hope you didn't miss the annual Powder Puff game on Nov. 26. During fourth period, all the students met on the football field to see who was the best between the All Stars (juniors and sophomores), and Seniors.

In the first half, both teams put in as much effort as they could in the fight for victory, but they both had such great defenses that none of the teams could score.

One of the highlights of the game w as the half-time performance. The cheerleaders were out on the field trying to do their routines to "Whip It". After their performances, the traditional crowning of Mr. Irresistible took place. The winning candidate was James Ferguson.

After the entertainment, the second half of the game continued. With the strong offense, our Seniors scored 12 points and took a sweeping victory with the score of 12-0. It was a day for us to remember and one that will go down in our Powder Puff history.

Shakespeare, Sherlock Holmes, John Travolta, Betty Crocker, Popeye, and Erma Bombeck were all there. Sounds funny? Not if you attended the Book Fair. Novels of love, adventure, murder, and excitement were offered for sale at very reasonable prices.

The sale was right before Christmas so everyone was able to get the right books for the right person. Many students bought books to help them in classes like Spanish, Cooking, Literature, and Creative Writing. There were many self-help books also dealing with things like jogging to beauty tips. Even if you couldn't find anything to interest you . . . there were always the comic books.

A New Experience

The Human Relations Weekend in the San Bernardino Mountains drew students from every walk of life. Sixty-three students and faculty of our school left on October 17 with a vague idea of what was to come. Everybody expected a good time, but the experiences and memories they brought back with them were unimaginable. The in-depth discussions involving both students and faculty opened everybodys eyes to the fact that they were dealing with real people. People with just the same ideas and views no matter what their skin color, position or sex. Also, they learned what relating really meant; to open yourself up to new experiences and to honestly tell what you feel about the topic.

Along with the learning involved, there were also some really fun happenings. Mr. Reisbord introduced off-the-wall games that everybody got involved in, and a few girls did an excellent job in tee-peeing the guys dorm!

The trip was a huge success and everyone came back with a renewed interest in bettering the relationships on our campus.

Winter Festival Brings Holiday Cheer

Narbonne's entertainment groups put on their annual Winter Festival, Thursday, December 18 in the auditorium. Opening with "Carillons of Christmastide," the band performed many nostalgic holiday songs. A special performance of a Chanukah Festival Overture was performed by a former student of Mr. Powell's, Carlton Wong.

The choir brought a new sound to old caroling favorites like "Do You Hear What I Hear" and "Silver Bells," while Hu Lynne Vallery gave a unique performance of "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord."

Scenes from Neil Simon's play "Plaza Suite" gave the audience a chance to see what was coming from the drama department for the fall play.

The gospel choir closed the show with some jazzy songs like "Feeling New" and "Are You Ready?" The trio of Athena Jones, Antoinette Stepter, and Eric Sanders sang "His Love is Real To Me."

They Just Act That Way

The Fall play for this year was Plaza Suite, a play written by Neil Simon. Plaza Suite consisted of three acts. Each hilarious act depicted totally different life situations. The first act was about a man and his wife. On the day of their twenty-third wedding anniversary, the wife found out that her husband had been having an affair with his business secretary. The second act showed a famous movie producer who called an old girlfriend after seventeen years and together, they found out what life had done to them over the years. In the third and final act, a father and mother tried to force their daughter, who literally locked herself up in a bathroom, to marry someone.

On the fourteenth and fifteenth of January, play production, directed by Mrs. Mirich, performed 1:00 matinees. The tickets for the matinees cost $1.00. The night performances were on the following two days at 8:00 and the tickets were $2.00.

A Gift of Christmas Cheer

Giving never meant so much as in the contributions given by the Narbonne student body during the Christmas Basket Drive. The Christmas Basket Drive became a tradition when a caring group of young men in the Key Club started the project 28 years ago. The drive serves two purposes: (1) to furnish gifts of food, clothing, and toys, donated by the students and faculty, to less fortunate families in order to bring a more joyful holiday and (2) to give an opportunity to the students to show that even in these hard times it is possible to unify different and enthusiastic groups of young people toward one common goal. Each homeroom that wanted to participate worked under a Key Clubber and was assigned a family whose size depended on the homeroom's choice. Clay Thompson, Key Club member and chairman of this year's project, stated, "It gets us in the spirit of Christmas and it's probably the most worthwhile project the club does. It's a lot of hard work, but we have a lot of good members. It can't be done by just one person. It must be a group effort." Many families are grateful and they really appreciate the care and efforts of Narbonne students that make their Christmas a merry one. Key Clubber Ted Yamada also summed it up pretty well. He said, "It was a lot of hard work, and if it wasn't for the school's cooperation, the Christmas Basket Drive couldn't have been a success." And with the efficient work and organization of the Key Club, the drive was truly a gift of Christmas warmth and cheer.

Fads of 1980-81

The 1980-81 fads spanned everything from "Space Invaders" and Rainbow Stickers to LaCosta shirts and Gory movies using holidays as their basis (i.e. "Halloween, My Bloody Valentine, etc.). But whether it was clothes or music, the fads of the 80's spelled c-h-a-n-g-e.

Probably the most major change was the beginning of the trend of designer jeans. Sassoons, Kleins, Jordache, etc ... were adorning everybody's gluteus maximus. Even kids were in on the class act with Vanderbilts for kids and Sergio Valentes. Brooke Shields proved to the American public that she's not just another pretty face and the sale of jeans sky-rocketed.

Other aspects of clothing changed too. New wave and "the Western look" influenced fashion with the basic result of more emphasis on accessories, cowboy hats, dot collars with spikes, and western boots found widespread approval with the younger public and western bars and new wave clubs sprang up out of nowhere, even bucking bronco machines became the thing to do.

Closer to campus there were things like "members only" jackets, pastel boucle sweaters, sweatsuits, and Hawaiian leaf necklaces. Also popular in the crowded hallways and noisy lunch areas were a variety of shoes like Cherokees, Pumps, Crayons, and good old Nikes.

The music of the 80's was fairly the same with veteran artists like Stevie Wonder, The Jacksons, Bruce Springsteen, Cameo, and Queen releasing the bulk of the top ten hits. Pat Benatar broke onto the music scene though, and stole the spotlight. Her hits like "Hit Me With Your Best Shot" helped her to skyrocket into national fame.

Hair styles became more involved with a major emphasis on things like hair combs and barrettes for the girls using them randomly in unique designs.

SACSI Week

The SACSI Club headed by Yvette Olsen organized the week of January 12, 1981 into a week full of events beginning with Culture Day and ending with the Tug of War between homerooms. Culture Day was the day when students dressed in an attire symbolic of their culture. Following Culture Day was the day of the noon dance held in the sloss gym. A Hot Legs contest was held in the Circle Area during lunch on the third day of SACSI week. Guys and even teachers, such as Mr. Sierra and Mr. Kozasa, showed off their legs. The SACSI week concluded with a Tug of War contest in which many homerooms had enthusiastically participated in. In addition to these activities there was a creative writing contest which was also sponsored by the SACSI club. Overall, SACSI week went remarkably well.

Activity Period

The first successful activity period of the semester was held on Friday, January 16. Activities of all kinds were available to see during the 45 minute period. As one of the main attractions, a martial arts demonstration was featured in the sloss gym. Food sales were stationed at various locations around the Circle Area, such as cakes, cookies, carmel corn, and pickles. Also around the Circle Area were nurses from Harbor College who gave blood pressure tests. Men from the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines showed programs and handed out literature. For those who were interested, there was a beauty demonstration in the Multi-Purpose Room and a body building slide show in A9. In the middle of the Circle Area was a hay stacking contest and a high jumping contest. Our students were thoroughly involved in all the activities during the period.

World Events 1980-1981

In Washington, the long-dormant volcano, Mount St. Helens, erupted on July 22, 1980 killing and injuring several people. The eruption blew ashes and steam 60,000 feet into the air and covered the entire Pacific Northwest with a fine dust layer.

Eight servicemen died in a disastrous attempt to free the American hostages in Iran when a helicopter collided with the transport plane. There were still unanswered questions concerning the fatal mission.

Lech Walesa led 150,000 Polish miners on strike to protect unsafe working conditions, low pay, long hours, and unrealistic government orders. In 18 days the Communist government agreed to the strikers' demands in fear of a revolution.

In the November Presidential Elections, Ronald Reagan won the presidency in a landslide defeat over Jimmy Carter.

After the 444 days of captivity prior to the seizure of the American Embassy in Tehran, the 52 American hostages were finally freed. They were astonished with the extravagant welcome they received upon their arrival back to the U.S. Yellow ribbons greeted them everywhere from their homes to the Super Bowl. All over the country, Americans cheered on the 52 heros and were enraged over the hostages' ordeal in Iran.

The U.S. Olympic team did well in the 1980 Winter Olympics. Spectacular performances centered on Eric Heiden, who broke all records while winning 5 gold medals in speed skating, and on the young U.S. hockey team's upset over the Soviet team. Unfortunately, many fine, top-seeded athletes were bitterly disappointed when the U.S. boycotted the Summer Olympics.

The Philadelphia Phillies won the World Series in six games over the Kansas City Royals. The Oakland Raiders defeated the Philadelphia Eagles with a 27-10 victory at the Super Bowl. Also, at the Super Bowl each player had a strip of yellow ribbon on his helmet in honor of the freed hostages.

The music world was shocked by the sudden and tragic deaths of drummer John Bonham of Led Zepplin and ex-Beatle John Lennon. John Lennon was the creator of the Beatles and his death brought millions of mourners together in vigils all over the world. Also gone were actors Peter Sellers and Steve McQueen, "master of suspense" Alfred Hitchcock, 1936 Olympic gold medalist Jesse Owens, and the Shah of Iran.

In television, the mystery of "Who shot J.R.?" brought Dallas phenomenal, national success. The ever popular M.A.S.H. and Three's Company stayed up on the charts along with The Dukes of Hazard and WKRP in Cincinnati. Shogun was a prime-time hit movie of James Cavell's novel. Dominating the TV commercial scene were some 27 commercials for designer and celebrity jeans. Among the most popular were Brooke Shields for Calvin Klein, Deborah Harry for Gloria Vanderbilt, and some members of the New York Rangers hockey team for Sasson. The cast of last year's big hit, Saturday Night Live, left the show for greener pastures.

After 3 years of anticipation from Star Wars, it's sequel, The Empire Strikes Back, was no doubt the biggest box-office hit of the year. Airplane was a surprise hit that made people roll out of their seats laughing. Coal Miner's Daughter, a biography of a country singer, was extremely popular and a little country was brought to the city in Urban Cowboy. Brooke Shields received more popular recognition in Blue Lagoon and the same with Goldie Hawn in Private Benjamin. From the stage to the movies, The Elephant Man was appealing for it's realism in the historic case of hideously deformed John Merrick.

Acting Up

This spring the play production class introduced us to "George Orwell's 1984" on May 28th, 29th, and 30th.

George Orwell was the pen name of an Englishman named Eric Blair. He was born in Bengal in 1903, educated at Eton, and after service with the Indian Imperial Police in Burma, returned to Europe to earn his living by writing novels and essays. He died at forty-six of a neglected lung ailment, leaving behind a substantial body of work.

The world of 1984 is one in which endless warfare is the price of bleak prosperity, in which party keeps itself in power by complete control over man's action and his thoughts, then join the underground opposition, the party can smash the last impulse of love, the last flickers of individuality.

A Parent and Senior Affair

A variety of song and dance made the Senior Parents Reception an affair worth remembering. It was a cultural experience as a young group of Somoan dancers, featuring seniors Paiao Ah Sam, Rosa Maugaotega, Junior Moega, Joanne Patane, May Rapacon, Susan Save, and Sammie Utu, presented some Polynesian dancers to a very interested audience. It was highly contrasted by a modern dance performed by Becky Miller. Songs that were sung gave an effect of the emotions that many seniors face in the year of their graduation. Songs like One Voice and Somewhere, sung by HuLynne Vallery represented a searching loneliness, All I Ever Have to Be, sung by Rita Gutierrez gave hope to one on his or her own, and Yesterday, presented by Scott Gilmartin and Earl Evans, in memory of John Lennon, made it clear that the past will always be a part of us. A slide show presentation with baby pictures of seniors and members of the faculty, along with background music played by Gina Manning, delighted everyone in the audience. The announcers throughout the show were senior class officers Liane Juan, Todd Isa, Helene Campbell, Allison Yuzuki, and Norfee Evans. A reception following in the MPR, where seniors, parents, and some faculty members got acquainted with each other over refreshments, finally brought the Senior Parents Reception to an end.

As principal, Dr. Browning was very concerned with our students welfare. There were many changes in the "everyday" routine for administrators, faculty and students.

Due to the decision made by the Board of Education, all of the LAUSD was faced with a drastic cut of funds. Our school had to let 13 teachers go. This meant that programs and classes were cut. Dr. Browning expressed his disappointment saying, "The Agriculture, Music, Home Economics, and P.E. depts. were hurt the most. Along with the cut in teachers, students had to take one less class." For graduating Seniors, credits were lowered from 165 to 160.

The students and the faculty all wondered if altering classes would cause problems. Fortunately, the change turned out better than expected. Dr. Browning was happy to say that the students adjusted well. This was due to their positive attitude, we made it through the rough and emerged on the top!

Business Education

For those who felt their future lay in the business field, Narbonne offered comprehensive and unusual courses to help you prepare for "the outside world." Along with the basic offerings of typing, shorthand, and accounting were such classes as Business English, Office Procedure, and Office Careers Secretarial. These classes gave the students training in the specific area of career interest. Also offered were courses in clerical skills and financial procedures. Mr. R.B. Haley is the department chairman and carried a full six period load. Teaching the more detailed classes were Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Tundo. In addition were Mr. Castro and Mrs. Jones.

ART

Dedication toward bettering the look of the school was shown in the creative effort of the art classes. The art teachers have been very supportive too.

They discussed various ideas like murals on each building in which the paintings depicted sessions of class.

The art classes also drew sketches of the school. They painted them with different colors to give them an idea of what colors looked good for the school.

Changing the school's appearance was the biggest project the art department had in a long time. We're all hoping that painting the school will be a successful event.

Tough Breaks for Good Classes

Home Economics wasn't a traditional cooking and sewing class. There was also a parenting class. This class related the problems and parenthood through the use of video tapes of real life situations.

It was the closing of our German classes, the temporary loss of Miss Flora Castro, and the cut of sixth period that weakened our foreign language. The German classes hadn't been as strong in number as the French and Spanish classes. And the cut of a sixth period for most was the final blow in the closing of German, it hurt the rest of the classes too. Meanwhile, Miss Castro was out due to complication of her operation.

It wasn't a totally bad year though. Mr. Jerry Malumaleumu took over all of Miss Castros classes and the students found him to be interesting and easy to talk to. Then sixth period was restored to Sophomores and Mr. McGee and Miss Marcelle were able to pick up a Spanish & French class respectively.

There was a French club, for the French students, and BECA for college bound bi-lingual students. BECA went to Alveras Street for Los Pasadas, Mexican tradition recreating the role of Joseph and Mary.

Though both departments were hurt by various happenings, they still continued and worked to enrich the students. Whether on foreign languages, or how to cook, sew, and raise a family. Both involving the future and being on your own.

Keeping Healthy, Wealthy

The Health department mainly taught students the basic rudiments of health. It taught the importance of good eating habits, keeping in shape, and gave the students a background of the problems concerning health existing in the world today. A new requirement in the health classes was that each student learn CPR (cardio pulminary resuscitation). The student then received a certification card upon successful completion of the course.

In stressing cancer prevention, the health department and play production wrote skits, songs and made posters for junior high schools in order to inform others of the urgency of cancer prevention. In charge of this project was CIG (Cancer Intelligence Group) under the supervision of Mr. Boren.

Drivers Education taught students the rules of the road and prepared them for the written test required to pass the driving test. The class stressed the importance of safety and careful driving, especially on the highways today.

One career oriented class, which included several young men and certified more students aids than in previous years, was Nursing. One of the few classes not affected by budget cuts, nursing provided many students with on the job training. They spent three days a week at the hospital and two days practicing procedures on campus.

Social Studies

Did you know you could visit Europe without ever leaving Narbonne? You could've, if you were enrolled in Mr. Harben's Modern Europe class. This was one of the many interesting and unique classes offered by the Social Studies Department. Along with the regular History classes, there were Government classes in which you could learn how our national, state, and local government works. Also offered were Psychology classes where you could learn how the human mind works. Besides these were Geography, Anthropology, and California History. So get adventurous and get involved with the Social Studies Department! If you can't actually go to those far away places, at least you can learn about them.

Do you work well with your hands? Can you design a building or tune a car with relative ease? Or work well with figures and understand electrical currents? Can you play lighting, sound, and positioning to make a production look good? If you answered "yes" to any of these questions, chances are that you were enrolled in one of the many Industrial Arts classes offered. Print and wood shops were for those with creative ideas and the ability to put their hands to work for them. Drafting was for those with an interest in designing a house or some such building. Auto shop put mechanical knowledge to work by allowing students to bring in their cars and work on them for a grade. Electric shop taught interested students how electricity works and how to put it to work for them. Stage Crew was responsible for the effects with lighting and sound for the fall and spring plays, the talent show and the many other assemblies enjoyed in the auditorium.

Physical Education

Of all the departments, the P.E. department lost the most teachers. There were four teachers lost to be exact; Mr. Mullin, Mr. Hultz, Mr. Didinger and Mrs. Norton. Because of the big loss, P.E. was no longer a requirement for sophomores.

Many of our major sports programs almost suffered because of the budget cuts. Fortunately, the Board of Education found the money to reinstate the sports, and our athletes were back in action.

Supporting the schools that almost lost their sports programs were the citizens of Los Angeles. They donated a lot of money to the "Save Our Sports" telethon, which was televised on Channel 9.

Future Farmers of America

FFA, which stands for the Future Farmers of America, is a leadership and training program. They had a good public relations, and helped with such school functions as the pancake breakfast and the newspaper drive. Public speaking and the exhibition of plants and animals at the Pomona Fair were some of the activities that they were involved in. Their major goal was to landscape the entrance of Narbonne and Eshelman Elementary School. Some of the highlights of FFA were the banquet, the team finals and the new greenhouse. From daily discipline and hard work, they achieved their highest aim; being number one in the state. A very proud Mr. Mann, who supervised this club, was one of the finest FFA instructors in this area.

1. It takes a lot of patience and care to make the crop grow healthy and strong.

2. Taking care of the nature trail is a major part of the Horticulture classes' projects.

Mr. Mann, who was the chairman of the agriculture department, had a lot more added strain and pressure put on him since Mr. Gabriel's dismissal. The animal program was cut in half, where as the floriculture program was cut totally because of Proposition 13. It was then brought back. The agriculture department received a new $20,000 automated greenhouse through federal funding. FFA hasn't lost a lot by cuts since it is subsidized by the state.

The English department was quite diversified with classes offered to suit everyone's taste. Several changes came about to alter the program schedule. This included making American Lit. a graduation requirement.

Along with the regular, everyday English classes, such as, English 10AB, Contemporary Composition, English Literature, Practical Writing, Advanced Composition, and Expository Composition; there were some other exciting and interesting classes offered as well. Play Production, Drama and Speech classes prepared future actors and actresses for their chosen field, as well as helping people who needed practice in talking in front of audiences. The classes participated in skits, plays and speech contests.

Play Production was responsible for performing the Fall play (Plaza Suite) and many performed in skits for the various junior highs in CIG. Drama classes were largely responsible for skits around school. Many students expressed an interest in journalism and shared their talents through the Green and Gold. The school paper was distributed monthly and reported on various happenings and school events. The format of the paper was that consisting of a student editor and page editors.

The English department was effected by the budget cuts just like the rest of the departments. Audio visual aids and field trips were very scarce. But the department was able to continue the type of education it has always given. The budget cut shortened supplies and made the tough job of teaching even tougher.

Science

Ever wonder what the inside of a frog looked like? Why the stars move the way they do? Why gravity is a central force?

The answers to these and many other questions could be found in Biology, Astronomy, Physics, Chemistry, or Physiology. Each class dealt with teaching the details of the numerous branches encountered in Science. Biology, the science of life; Geology, the science of the earth; Chemistry, the science of chemical reactions; Physics, the science of logic and reasoning; and Astronomy, the science of the stars, just to name a few.

Computers the Future

Offering a wide range of classes and boasting some excellent teachers, it's no wonder that our math department is known as one of the finest in the area. The wide range of classes covers subjects from High School Math all the way to Advanced Placement Calculus. Math isn't usually a favored subject, but most feel it's Narbonne's strongest. One of the most popular classes was the Computer Programming class taught by Mr. Morley. "The increased interest is due to the fact that many more students became aware of the importance of computers," stated Mr. Morley. Computer Programming can also count towards a math major. More equipment was expected for the classes, such as line printers, disc drives, and another Radio Shack computer due February. The class was a special class for it utilized the creativity of the students, letting them express themselves. As Dr. Donald Michael stated in "The Unprepared Society":

Ignorance of computers will render people as functionally illiterate as ignorance of reading, writing, and arithmetic."

Special Education

Educational programs in special education differ widely throughout the country. The goals and objectives of these programs however are similar. Here at Narbonne, programs in special education aim to develop independent skills of living. It is expected that most individuals will eventually find occupations which will enable them to lead independent productive lives. An important objective of many programs is the development of family living skills. The student needs to learn the importance of family relations plus the domestic skills for self and home maintenance. When not at work they should be taught enjoyable ways of using leisure time, such as listening to music, participating in sports, and arts and crafts activities.

The visually handicapped classes dealt with students with sight problems. Meeting in some of their own classes, such as Contemporary Composition, they used such aids as a Braille printer, large print typewriters, recorded textbooks, and closed circuit T.V. Our school is lucky to have these aids for the Visually Handicapped.

"Mainstreaming," or, in other terms, getting the students into regular classes, was the main purpose of this class. One of their daily routines was to get together with the guidance classes. The purpose of this get-together was to discuss special problems handicapped students face.

One of the many special education classes included EH (Emotionally Handicapped). The Emotionally Handicapped classes were taught by Mr. Intermill in D9. He stressed attendance in his classes. Monthly contests were held in which students present the most days of the month were rewarded with lunch by Mr. Intermill, otherwise known as Coach Intermill. Rewards, competitions like this were used to make the students feel good about themselves.

During a class session, Mr. Intermill and his class would discuss problems that can come up in school. Mr. Intermill says, "A big help in these classes was someone like Rosemary Cehijic to rely on for help."

Rosemary, a teacher's aide, and Mr. Intermill worked together to produce new ideas in working with the Emotionally Handicapped.

There was a special program on campus this year that only had twelve students per class. Fortunately, it wasn't cancelled because the whole purpose of the class was to be small. Students came into Mr. Parker's class anytime between first and fifth period to work on their weakest points like reading, math, etc. This program gave students the help they needed on an almost one to one basis. The maximum time a student could come into this class was twice a day. When the student reaches his normal academic level, he is then placed into regular classes. The material and the approach are different, but the class has been successful enough to last two years.

Music for Everyone

One of the main functions of the Music Department is to provide entertainment for different school activities. Such activities include football games, Christmas programs, and occassional musicals. Various types of music are offered like jazz, classical, and popular music. Another function of the Music Department is to get nonmusical students interested in music. There are instrumental and vocal classes for anyone who wishes to look into a musical career. The jazz ensemble is a popular class with the music students. The orchestra was reinstated this year for the first time in seven years. Although the Music Department is not as strongly supported as other departments on campus, Mr. Powell, head of the department, optimistically stated, "I am hopeful that the music program will blossom." He also hopes that in the near future someone else will take over the vocal classes so he may concentrate more heavily on instrumental music. Excellent assistance to Mr. Powell came from student teacher Carlton Wong, a Narbonne alumni and Occidental graduate.

Experience That Counts

Work Experience gives students an opportunity to work for jobs off campus and receive school credit at the same time. The Work Experience program also posts job openings and gives out information on how to get a job. The CETA program is available to students who wish to work for the school before or after school hours and be paid for their services.

Tutoring is an exploratory program for students who are interested in teaching early childhood education and plan on going into occupations dealing with children. Students are able to work in child care centers, handicapped programs, and in surrounding elementary schools with grades from kindergarten to sixth. Tutoring takes place from 9:00 am to 2:00 pm. School credits are given and students are eligible for the Narbonne student service award. Mr. Clark, head of the tutoring program, commented that it was "a good opportunity for students to get involved in a positive way in our community."

Clubs and Organizations

1981 was a year of beginning and success for the majority of the clubs on campus. Some out-of-the-ordinary clubs such as British Invasion, Dungeons and Dragons, SACSI, and Los Hermanos Unidos joined the ranks of foundations like CSF, Key Club, Senate, Knights, Jane Addams, Leadership, etc.

More students were involved in the clubs which served to unite people in a common interest. Some clubs met at lunch and nutrition, while others met after school. The community service related clubs increased the number of their projects. The overall activities of the school service and interest groups also was on the up.

These organizations were an important part of the student's life, taking the mind off of pressure, and involving them in fun. So if you weren't involved, hopefully it's not too late. Get up and get involved.

1. Karen Hashimoto cues in on a Keywanettes meeting.

2. Brenda Craig recites her interview on Liane Juan, during leadership. The object of the interview is to better acquaint the class with one another.

3. The Human Relations Conference offered chances for group discussion on various topics.

4. Los Hermanos met at lunch for meetings.

5. The Drill team brightened up the stands with their sharp colors at every game.

At the International Convention in San Diego, Key Club took first place in Silver Achievement and Scrapbook; once again making them number one!

Choosing the theme "Dare to Influence," Key Club visited convalescent homes and took Cambodian and Laotian refugee children on trips, but the biggest project of all was the annual Christmas Basket Drive. Key Clubbers, students, and faculty were united in the effort to collect food, money, and presents for sixty needy families in the area. A few other projects were the car show and the McDonald's Diabetes Bike-a-Thon.

Girl's State: Yvette Olsen

Cream of the Crop

To be in CSF, the California Scholarship Federation, a student must have 2 A's and a B in academic subjects, and an A in another subject, as well as the other work habit and cooperation grade restrictions. If a student was able to make CSF 4 times, with at least one time during the senior year, that student then becomes a Sealbearer, a Life Time Member of CSF. For those who achieved this their first semester of 12th grade, could relax, for there were still others who needed to make it their last semester.

Boy's State delegates and the Girl's State delegate were nominated and interviewed during their junior year. They participated in a week of acting as a true government.

Getting Involved

"Getting people involved with people." That's the slogan for one of the clubs on campus called the S.A.C.S.I. Club. What's the S.A.C.S.I. Club you ask?!

S.A.C.S.I. stands for Student Advisory Committee on Student Integration. The S.A.C.S.I. Club, otherwise known as the Human Relations Club, works to better the relations between students and faculty. The club sponsor is Miss Marcelle and the club president is Yvette Olsen.

Many of the activities they planned were games played between clubs and games between the faculty and students. Yvette Olsen says, "The only problem with the clubs' activities is the lack of motivation in the student body."

Their biggest activity was the weekend conference in the San Gabriel mountains. The conference was successful because of the fact that it brought together students and faculty, and there were many students and faculty from our school. One of the S.A.C.S.I. Committees members, Cathy Leber, said that the conference turned out to be "a restful and creative weekend."

1. After the meeting, HuLynne Vallery asks Rose Macias about the picnic which they are in the process of planning.

2. Many times, in a SACSI Committee meeting, the members like to goof off. Gretchen Pfeiffer can't help but laugh at their crazy antics.

3. Stella Wang is taken away from a heavy discussion by the photographer while Kiki Oshiba tries to listen in.

Of the many activities Girls League was involved in, the Homecoming Dance was their most recognized project. Taking care of printing tickets, planning decorations, finding refreshments, and choosing photographs were the various duties of the Girls League committees. Girls Week was also directed by Girls League. Interested girls applied and were allowed to visit various businesses they were seriously considering as a profession.

Halftime activities during the Homecoming game were planned and organized by Boys League. Directing elections for the Homecoming Court and locating cars for the victory procession were just a few of the details involved in the preparation of the halftime activities. Along with organization and preparation, the members of Boys League voted to dedicate the Homecoming halftime to our retired principal Mr. Paul Bennett and his wife, Tess.

The Whip and the Beat

Ethusiastically supporting our school in football games and parades were a group of ten spirited girls comprising the Small Flags. Although only half of the group were previous members, they proved that determination and practice were essential in making their new and difficult routines a success. Captains of this year's Small Flags were Carrie Garber and Dianah Jimenez. They devoted their spare time with the group to design new routines and practice old ones.

Row 3: Brian Simms, Vicki Foggetta, Rodney Boersma, Victor Calderon, Dwayne Peterson, Scott Van Buskirk, Jimmy Hodge, Junior Patane, John Dean, Jesus Perez, Frank Infante, Bryan Scott, Charles Gurrola, Tracey Henegar.

Many noticeable changes occurred in the marching band. Due to the elimination of the sixth period, many disappointed students were unable to take band, especially those who were previous members. Although the size of the marching band was slightly decreased, their performance at football games and parades was not hindered because of their dedication to practice. Another noticeable change was the band attire; new white gloves were added to give the band a more professional look.

Mr. Small was appointed the new director of marching band. He commented that directing the band was a "thrilling" experience and as far as he was concerned, "the marching band was enthusiastic and spirited." Their attitude and determination made them capable of meeting new challenges.

Baronettes was a service club for sophomore girls, sponsored by Mrs. Palmquist. Their requirements were a high grade point average and a willingness to participate. Baronette duties included serving refreshments at the Homecoming dance, Christmas dance and the Senior Parent Reception.

Jane Addams was a club for junior and senior girls; the club sponsor was Mrs. Kobayashi and president was Connie Kurata. The purpose of Jane Addams was to usher at assemblies and to help the counselors with programs and report cards.

Knights, another service club on campus, was comprised of junior and senior boys. Their services included raising the flags in the morning, ushering at the auditorium doors at assemblies, supervising in the cafeteria, and checking lockers at the end of each semester. The club's new sponsor was Mr. Crook.

The Drill Team was comprised mostly of sophomores and juniors, who were led by captains Jane Mashiko, Karen Melancon, Patti Oto, and Jolene Schneider. The captains devoted much time working to invent new routines to teach their group. Miss Barry, their sponsor, was credited as saying, "this year's Drill Team is outstanding and has practiced very hard."

Variety Offered on Campus

The main purpose of the Multiple Sclerosis Club was to raise money for the Multiple Sclerosis Society and to perform services for their needs. The club met bi-weekly to plan and organize new fund raisers, such as a bake sale and candy sale. They also helped with the Multiple Sclerosis Christmas Show. President Jennifer Scheese said the club was "helping people in a good cause."

The purpose of the Science Fiction Club was to discuss and present ideas, books, plays, movies, and television shows that deal with the exciting world of science fiction, horror, and fantasy. The club also recorded short stories, poems, and novels for blind children.

New Clubs Formed

There were some new clubs on campus and they were unique and interesting. The first was the Philosophy Club. Formed by Yvette Olson, Carmel Derecho, Joan Ho, and David Caldwell, this club explored various structures of different societies and discussed many controversial issues.

The British Invasion Club was formed to bring together those who enjoyed British 60's music. They attended many different events concerning different British rock groups like the Beatles and the Rolling Stones. President James Lara said, "the main purpose of this club is to have fun."

Heating up the Spirit

Striving for perfection, Varsity and Bee Cheerleaders practiced after school and during the summer, coming up with new and imaginative routines. Varsity captain, Lisa Ladner, and Bee captain, Lisa Shively, worked with their squads to prepare routines for football games and pep rallies. Many of the Varsity Cheerleaders were former Bee Cheerleaders, so they gave the squad a touch of experience and also helped the Bee's practice to the music of Queen's "Another One Bites The Dust." Along with the cheerleaders was mascot, Tracy Soler, who enthusiastically cheered the football and basketball teams on to victory.

Tall and Peppy

This year's Tall Flags performed precision-styled routines at the football games and in parades. Giving up a lot of their own spare time, after school and during summer vacation to learn and practice their routines, shows just how dedicated they were. Some of the songs they performed to during halftimes were "Tusk" and "Fame." Captain Jeanette Pandolfi and co-captain Lisa Salva spent many long, tiring hours teaching the new members the difficult routines. There were nine members, consisting of three seniors and six juniors. Miss Barry, the sponsor, was quoted as saying, "They were an excellent and hard-working group, of whom I am very proud."

A very spirited group of girls, the Pep Club, really helped to liven up the football games. Pep Club, cheering along with the Cheerleaders and the rest of the Pep units, helped to make the games more exciting and fun. They were an enthusiastic group. Everyone worked especially hard learning the cheers and moves from the Cheerleaders. They stayed after school, dedicating their time to try to perfect the cheers. They got new uniforms, such as skirts, gloves, jerseys and shoes, which made them seem more into the school spirit. Mrs. Woodcock, the new sponsor, had the club very organized and "peppy."

Getting Involved

I.C.C., which stands for the Inter-Club Council, was made up of one representative from every club on campus. Some of the activities they were involved with were the newspaper drive, in which they worked to involve each club to help out, and the activity week, where teams were formed from each club to race each other. In addition, they helped support "Sparkling Narbonne U.S.A."—a.k.a. the clean campus campaign. The president was Yvette Olsen, and the club goal was to unite all the clubs on campus.

The purpose of Afroettes was to discuss activities for the school. They met once a week on Tuesdays during lunch. During these meetings they planned what they wanted to accomplish. Mrs. Kirby and Mrs. Jordan supervised this club. The president was Christina McDaniels.

Dungeons and Dragons was an informal club where the members met to have a good time. They met everyday in G1, the computer room, and played D & D and other war-games. This club was formed by a group of weekend wargamers who noticed that there were no clubs that appealed to their own interests on campus. They had fun playing this unusual game, and made plans to overtake the world. The club motto was, "Save the best—exterminate the rest." The Commander-in-Chief, Robert Lanoue and the rest of the members, were occupied with a never-ending game that required alot of brain-work!

Co-ed bowling was one of the more exciting clubs on campus. It consisted of all three grade levels, with Mr. Clark as the supervisor. They bowled every Tuesday after school at Bowl-O-Drome.

1. Getting ready to bowl a winning strike, Jill Yamashita throws a confident glance.

One of Maureen DeLangis' duty as ASB Vice President, spring semester, was to plan and head each meeting. The senators' job was to ask for ideas and responses from their homerooms. The purpose of the senate was to keep the student body informed of upcoming events through representatives. The senators also played an important part in the success of the candy drive.

Community Service With a Smile

Keywanettes is a club which supports the community, as well as the school through various projects. Many of these projects include activities with autistic children, a dance marathon, a book fair, and an Easter egg hunt for handicapped children. Everyday projects around the school were changing the main marquee twice a week, selling tickets at the football, basketball, and track games, and working in the library two or three times a month.

The California-Nevada-Hawaii District Convention was held in San Diego. At the convention, the girls learned many new projects. Trophies and plates were awarded to the top 3 clubs for the most fund-raisers, most school projects and the best all-around club. The Keywanettes' goal was to be first in the Silver Division.

Fall Leadership took on many responsibilities, making the various activities, sports and organizations the best ever. It was divided into six committees. The Assemblies Committee organized the invitational assemblies and the biggest job they handled was Activity Day. The Publicity Committee made all the banners for the assemblies, sports, and the United Crusade. The duties for the people in Sportsmanship were to promote school spirit and organize the Powder Pu game. The Elections Committee was responsible for all the elections on campus, the handing out of applications and registering the voters. The jobs of S.I.C.C. was the sponsoring of the noon dances and concerts and "Sparkling Narbonne U.S.A.," our clean up campus crusade. The Executive Committee were sent to other meetings around the league and represented Narbonne. Mr. Jung supervised Fall Leadership. Fall Senate and Class Officers

The Fall Senate, led by ASB Vice-President Pam Tonomura, involved themselves in the discussion of problems on campus and the performed the task of informing their fellow classmates. A new project they worked on was the newspaper drive. Their homerooms collected newspaper and scrap paper to turn in on specific days. The Senate met in the MPR on an irregular basis, whenever important news was needed to be spread around, a meeting was arranged.

The class officers served to represent the class in Leadership. Only the Senior class officers really worked directly with their own class. Prom sites, class sweat shirts, the chosing of the style for the graduation announcements, the Senior Parents Reception, and the Senior Personalities were the projects of the senior class officers.

The 1981 school year opened with uncertainty of our sports program, among other things. But as the season progressed the problems were solved, thanks to the united efforts of the coaches, and the promise of a successful telethon. After the controversies were cleared, everyone could concentrate on supporting the sports on hand.

It was excitement to the utmost in to the sports season. Our Varsity Football team came back from behind and played the Coliseum. A record Narbonne crowd attended to cheer on our team. Winning seasons were many as the year progressed. But not all sports had them. Some teams were rebuilding with new recruits a fresh enthusiasm. They suffered from inexperience this year but have promise for next year.

The support of our sports was high, with plenty of students staying after school to watch the competition and cheer the athletes on. The practice put in by the athletes was well worthwhile and the credit they received well deserved.

The Varsity baseball team had a positive attitude about their goal, which was winning. Mr. Strong, the coach, was quoted as saying, "They were a super bunch of boys with good hitting and a good defense. Even though the pitching was a little weak and they needed more discipline, overall they were a good team." They worked on their weak areas by practicing everyday from 1:00-3:30. The outstanding players were Captain Mike McNalley, Keith Adriance, Lazaro Garcia, Roy Mix, James Ferguson, Bruce Moore and David McNeil, who were also the returning lettermen. Eric Brown, John Mizuno, Jose Rodriguez, Derwin Henderson, Joe Palmer and Cy Oatridge, all moved up to Varsity this year and contributed a lot to the team. The team manager was Mark Van Dam. Scorekeepers were Lydia Hermenegildo and Linda Reyes.

He looked upon the team as hard-working and determined to make their season a winning one. The captain of the JV team was Gordon Mimura, a returning player. The team practiced long, and hard everyday after school. During practice, they worked on such areas as their pitching, hitting and catching, so that they could overcome some of their weaker areas.

L.A. City 3A Champs

Narbonne's 1980-81 Varsity squad, in a slow start, put forth a powerful amount of effort and reached the peak of the mountain, making it to the coliseum game, a peak that most schools just dream about. Getting off to a bad start during pre-season games, the varsity surprised everyone by making it to the 3A Playoffs. They experienced a disappointing loss in the league opener to Fairfax 6-10; but as they tied the all important game against Locke, the Gauchos improved. Finally, their losing streak ended when their mighty defense displayed awesome superiority over Jefferson. At this point, Coach Epstein felt that we were going to make it. The Gauchos, not being a one man show, began to work harder, both offensively and defensively, showing team unity and friendship as they climbed higher and higher to the top. After overcoming San Pedro, beating Westchester made them a contender for the playoffs.

After a year of hard work the team finally did it! They made it all the way to the 3-A City Championship at the Los Angeles Coliseum. There was much doubt as to whether the team was gonna make it, but they did.

During the game, the stands were packed. Spirits were high as the Gauchos and Wolves battled it out for the 3-A City title, but it didn't quite happen, the game ended in a tie. The Gauchos had won a Co-Championship with the Wolves. This was a much deserving title to the Varsity Football Team. Congratulations!

High in Spirit

Our Varsity Basketball team got off to a slow start this season with a 0-5, win-loss record. The team's outlook wasn't too good, but spirits were riding high when we played our toughest rivals, Banning and Carson.

After nine years in retirement Coach Backstrom was asked to coach once again. Mr. Backstrom had an inner conflict regarding whether or not to coach this year, but he made the decision that was best for the school, and proved to be an excellent coach. The Coach decided to play only his first string players with little or no substitution. Morals and values were emphasized by one and all on the team. Outstanding players were Fred Douglas and Steve Williams who were veterans of last years Varsity team.

Our Bees and Cees played in a tough league and didn't have a very successful season. The Bees were the smallest team in the league and that alone led to a decline in attitudes. "The thing that hurt the most was that the beginning was shaky and the attitudes were bad," Coach Hoppes said. "Their fundamentals needed work and the turnovers were weak." However, there were still some shining stars in all the gloom. They included seniors Alex Fraga, Robert Humphrey, Chris Honma, and junior Tony Millsap. These were the players Coach Hoppes described as "my best ball players."

The Cees didn't fare much better during their season. The players were almost all sophomores and, unfortunately that meant less experience. They played bravely though, and everyone had a chance to give it his best shot since Coach Hoppes played all team members. Dennis Chun and Robby Jeeter were the starfires of the Cee team and kept the moral high during a trying season.

Although the players on the JV team were relatively small in height in comparison to the players on the rival teams, they were a fast-breaking team. They made good use of their talents and finished the season by placing fourth in the league. The most valuable player was Darryl Dent. The most inspirational player was Steve Taylor. Lance Kaneshiro was the most improved player on the JV team. Some of the team members were even prospective players for the Varsity team.

In the past, Coach Backstrom was primarily concerned with playing all team members in each game. In the future, however, he will be concentrating more on the stronger players.

For the first time, girls had an opportunity to compete on a team which was strictly male. The two girl gymnasts were Teresa DeCasas and Jeanette McGahey. Teresa DeCasas looked very promising as a future gymnast. Her strongest event was the floor exercise. It was a great season for our Girls Varsity and J.V. Basketball teams. Practice, hard work and good coaching from Mr. Intermill enabled both teams to capture a majority of their victories.

There were many bright spots in the season with a consistent effort shown by all team members. As the season came to an end, the "Gauchoettes" were going through considerable changes. They were playing more aggressive games, the scores were closer, and more points were scored. An overall outlook of these fine players showed they can very possibly bring a renewed look in future years.

Our Varsity Softball Team began the season with a brand new start. They had new uniforms and two wonderful new coaches, Mr. Bob Clark and Mr. Danny Tolliver.

There were many returning players, these included Cynthia Gomez, Kim Martinsen, Sherry Matthews, Cari Mayfield, Tami Moore, May Rapacon, Laura Shafer, Adria Wendel, and Donna Williams.

The team practiced everyday from 1:30 to 4:00. Mr. Clark said, "their hitting was very effective. They also had a strong infield, outfield and five good pitchers."

The 1981 J.V. Softball Team was looking forward to a very successful season. Under the coaching of Miss Kordones, all the players were getting better and more aggressive. After their first game against Rolling Hills High, the team learned to face tough opponents, among many other valuable lessons. If determination is what it takes to be the winner, then our J.V. team will be just that.

He finished third in the league. Outstanding runners for the girls team were seniors Laurie Hoban and Yvette Olsen.

Due to the lack of people, the Cees were a fairly weak team. However, the Cees did benefit from performances by people like Charles Lomboy, Derrick Jeter, Kevin Johnson, and Roy Pascual. Charles Lomboy was an All-City pole-vaulter. Derrick Jeter was outstanding in the 440 and in high jumping. Kevin Johnson and Roy Pascual were instrumental as sprinters.

The girls team had excellent athletes. Strong jumpers and sprinters highlighted the team. Maureen Wiley was an outstanding sprinter, middle distance runner, and high jumper. Kim Goodman was another strong sprinter and long jumper, Julie Carper was a strong competitor in the events of sprints and high jump. Other fine sprinters were Jeannette Sanks and Annette Sanks. Excellent high jumpers were Terri Sumpter and Gerri Taylor. The girls team had an advantage of having about nine returning experienced athletes.

The Boys Volleyball team consisted of a Varsity team and a Junior Varsity team. The teams were made up of all three grade levels. "They were a very promising team and we hope to go far," Coach Hobbs said. The Varsity and JV teams practiced hard each day after school on such drills as setting, spiking and serving. They also worked on their offense and defense. One of the outstanding players on the Varsity team was Chris Grimes, who was also the captain. The JV captain was Junior Moega.

This year the team was relatively young. This inexperience affected the outcome of many games. Many juniors and seniors who participated on last year's team could not play because of class schedule conflicts. Our team had weaknesses in passing and scoring. The other teams always seemed to get possession of the ball on our throw-ins. Injuries also hurt the team. Our Captain, Milton, had an injury and didn't score as much as he could have. We had little time to prepare for the season because of the budget cuts. Soccer was dropped and then re-instated about two weeks before the season. A few of our practice games were dropped as a result of this.

This season was a big change from last year. The returning players from last year may have learned from this experience. We now know how to handle both winning and losing situations.

1. Jose Melgasa warms up for a pre-season game during fifth period.

The girls tennis team finished the season off well, by tying first in their league with Gardena. The team was made up of seventeen players, twelve on Varsity and five on Junior Varsity. The girls were coached by Mrs. Peck. They practiced hard everyday after school except on Fridays, till the end of the season, which was November nineteenth. The most valuable player was Rita Gutierrez. The most improved player was Gina DelGuidice and the most inspirational player was Sherry Boss. Ten of the players kept up an A or B average in their classes.

The boys tennis team consisted of twelve players. It was a small team in comparison to the rival teams, but there were still several exceptionally good players. They were Hoang Tu, who was seeded number one, Jack Snedaker, Dean Yanohira, Wilson Liu, Kelvin Lee and Jeff Lim. All of these players were also on last year's team. The coach was Mr. Dossey who was quoted as saying, "The team looks pretty good, but it'll be difficult since it's so small." Everyone played on Varsity except for three people, who were on the JV team. To compensate for the size of the team, they all practiced hard everyday during sixth period until 4:30 in the afternoon.

This year our Swimming Team had to face two tough questions. Are we going to have a team? and if we do, who is going to be our coach?

Well, thanks to all the generous people that donated their money to the district. The Los Angeles School board has restored our Swimming Team for all the fine and talented swimmers.

As for coaching, Mrs. Chagnovich did a fine job. Even though some of the beginning swimmers have a lot to learn and a long way to go, but if the team as a whole, keeps working out hard and improving, it will be a successful year.

Varsity Swimming Team—First Row: Diana McWaide, April Hallmark, Jennifer Freschi, Tina Cheer. The time has come for the class of 1981 to move on towards their own goals and destinies. The long years of school we're leaving behind us have been full of joy, sadness, friends, enemies, excitement, boredom, gladness, and regret. We'll always remember those years. Whether it be with happiness or bitterness, for they picture us in our youth.

Now we're graduating and leaving the security of school. The decisions are already here. To go on to college, which college, to get a job, which job! We're no longer oblivious children, but aware young adults. An important part of our life is completed and now we can continue.

This section marks our debut into the real world. This is not only a reflection of our high school years, but all our years. Let's now follow our dreams and ideas, let's reach those goals. We've made it this far. Let's make it all the way!

Whether it's the cheerleaders, band, drill team, small and tall flags, pep club, or just these two Snoopy mascots, the spirit of Narbonne High keeps alive through the major conflicts on the cutback of most of the sports in the Los Angeles School District. The energy displayed by the pep units and all the students active in sports was outstanding. We owe much credit to those fine students who have given their time and dedication in spite of all the difficulties. We only hope this attitude and energy will live on at Narbonne for many years to come.

Something to Remember

In Loving Memory of Julie Kuroda
August 8, 1980

I picked this title because it's something I'll always remember. This is the true story of my life and how I fought the pains, the struggles, and the fears of having cancer.

On August 22, 1979, which is also my parents' anniversary date, I went to see a neurologist. I had been sick for six weeks prior to the visit and had been to our family doctor and to an optometrist. Neither knew what was wrong with me. I explained my problems to this doctor. I had frequent backaches, headaches, double vision, vomiting, and loss of weight were just some of them. The doctor said he could already tell what was wrong with me. I was admitted that same day to Long Beach Memorial Hospital for a brain scan. The test results showed signs of a small growth near my brain. My doctor told me he'd be honest and up front about everything. He diagnosed the growth as a brain tumor and told me I'd have to have it removed through surgery. I wanted to cry, but I didn't.

I had two operations: one minor one to insert a shunt that would release pressure around my brain. The other was the major surgery to remove the tumor. While they were operating, they found that the tumor was malignant and I had cancer.

I met another doctor who was going to help me fight cancer. He recommended radiation and chemotherapy treatments. He also explained that I'd lose all my hair from it and I did.

My struggles, especially after the surgery, were pretty bad. Since they cut open the back of my head, it took me quite awhile before I could even lift my head and sit up. I was in bed all the time and almost forgot how to walk. I hadn't used a pencil in all that time and had to slowly learn how to write again. The worst part was that I had to be spoon fed like a baby.

Everyone heard what had happened and came to see me. My neighbors, relatives, school friends, church members, the youth group, family friends and my family were constantly around me. Their visits really helped me. I regained my self-confidence and really wanted to go on living.

I was still weak, but after three weeks of being in the hospital, I went home. It was hard at first because I couldn't do much. My family gave me the V.I.P. treatment and spoiled me. Someone was always there when I needed them. Our church rented a wheelchair for me and each day a member drove my mom and me to the hospital for radiation treatments. (I just finished treatments about three months ago.)

A week after being home I got an infection on my stitches and had to be put back in the hopsital. This time I was scared. From my room I could hear a young boy yelling and screaming. His name was Kip and he was 11 years old. He had leukemia and had contracted another disease. The pain was so bad they had to sedate him. Kip died a few days later. That really scared me and affected my will to live. But I kept at it and through God's help I had overcome those fears.

I saved this for my last composition because it was very personal to me. I never would have made it this far without the help of my friends and family and God. I now live each day knowing I'm going to make it, just like a normal person because I am a normal person.

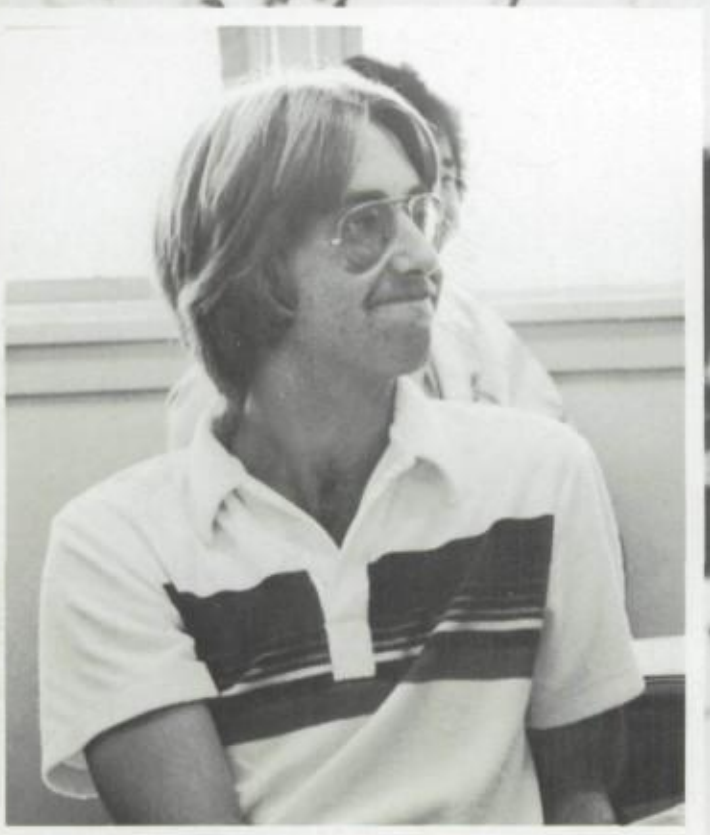
Many of us shared the feelings that we felt during the last few days of the school year. Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors we all experience our own joy, sadness, anticipation and anxiety.

The end of our first year in high school leaves us feeling accomplished. We started off scared of unknown, but as the year progressed we made new friends, experienced new happenings. Can we forget our first dance, football game, or first day at high school? When we look ahead we see two more years in school, wondering what it's going to be like, what we're going to do. Will I get to go to Homecoming? Will our football team go to the City Finals? Will I survive the summer? Well, all that matters now is that I made it through my first year and I'm going to make it all the way.

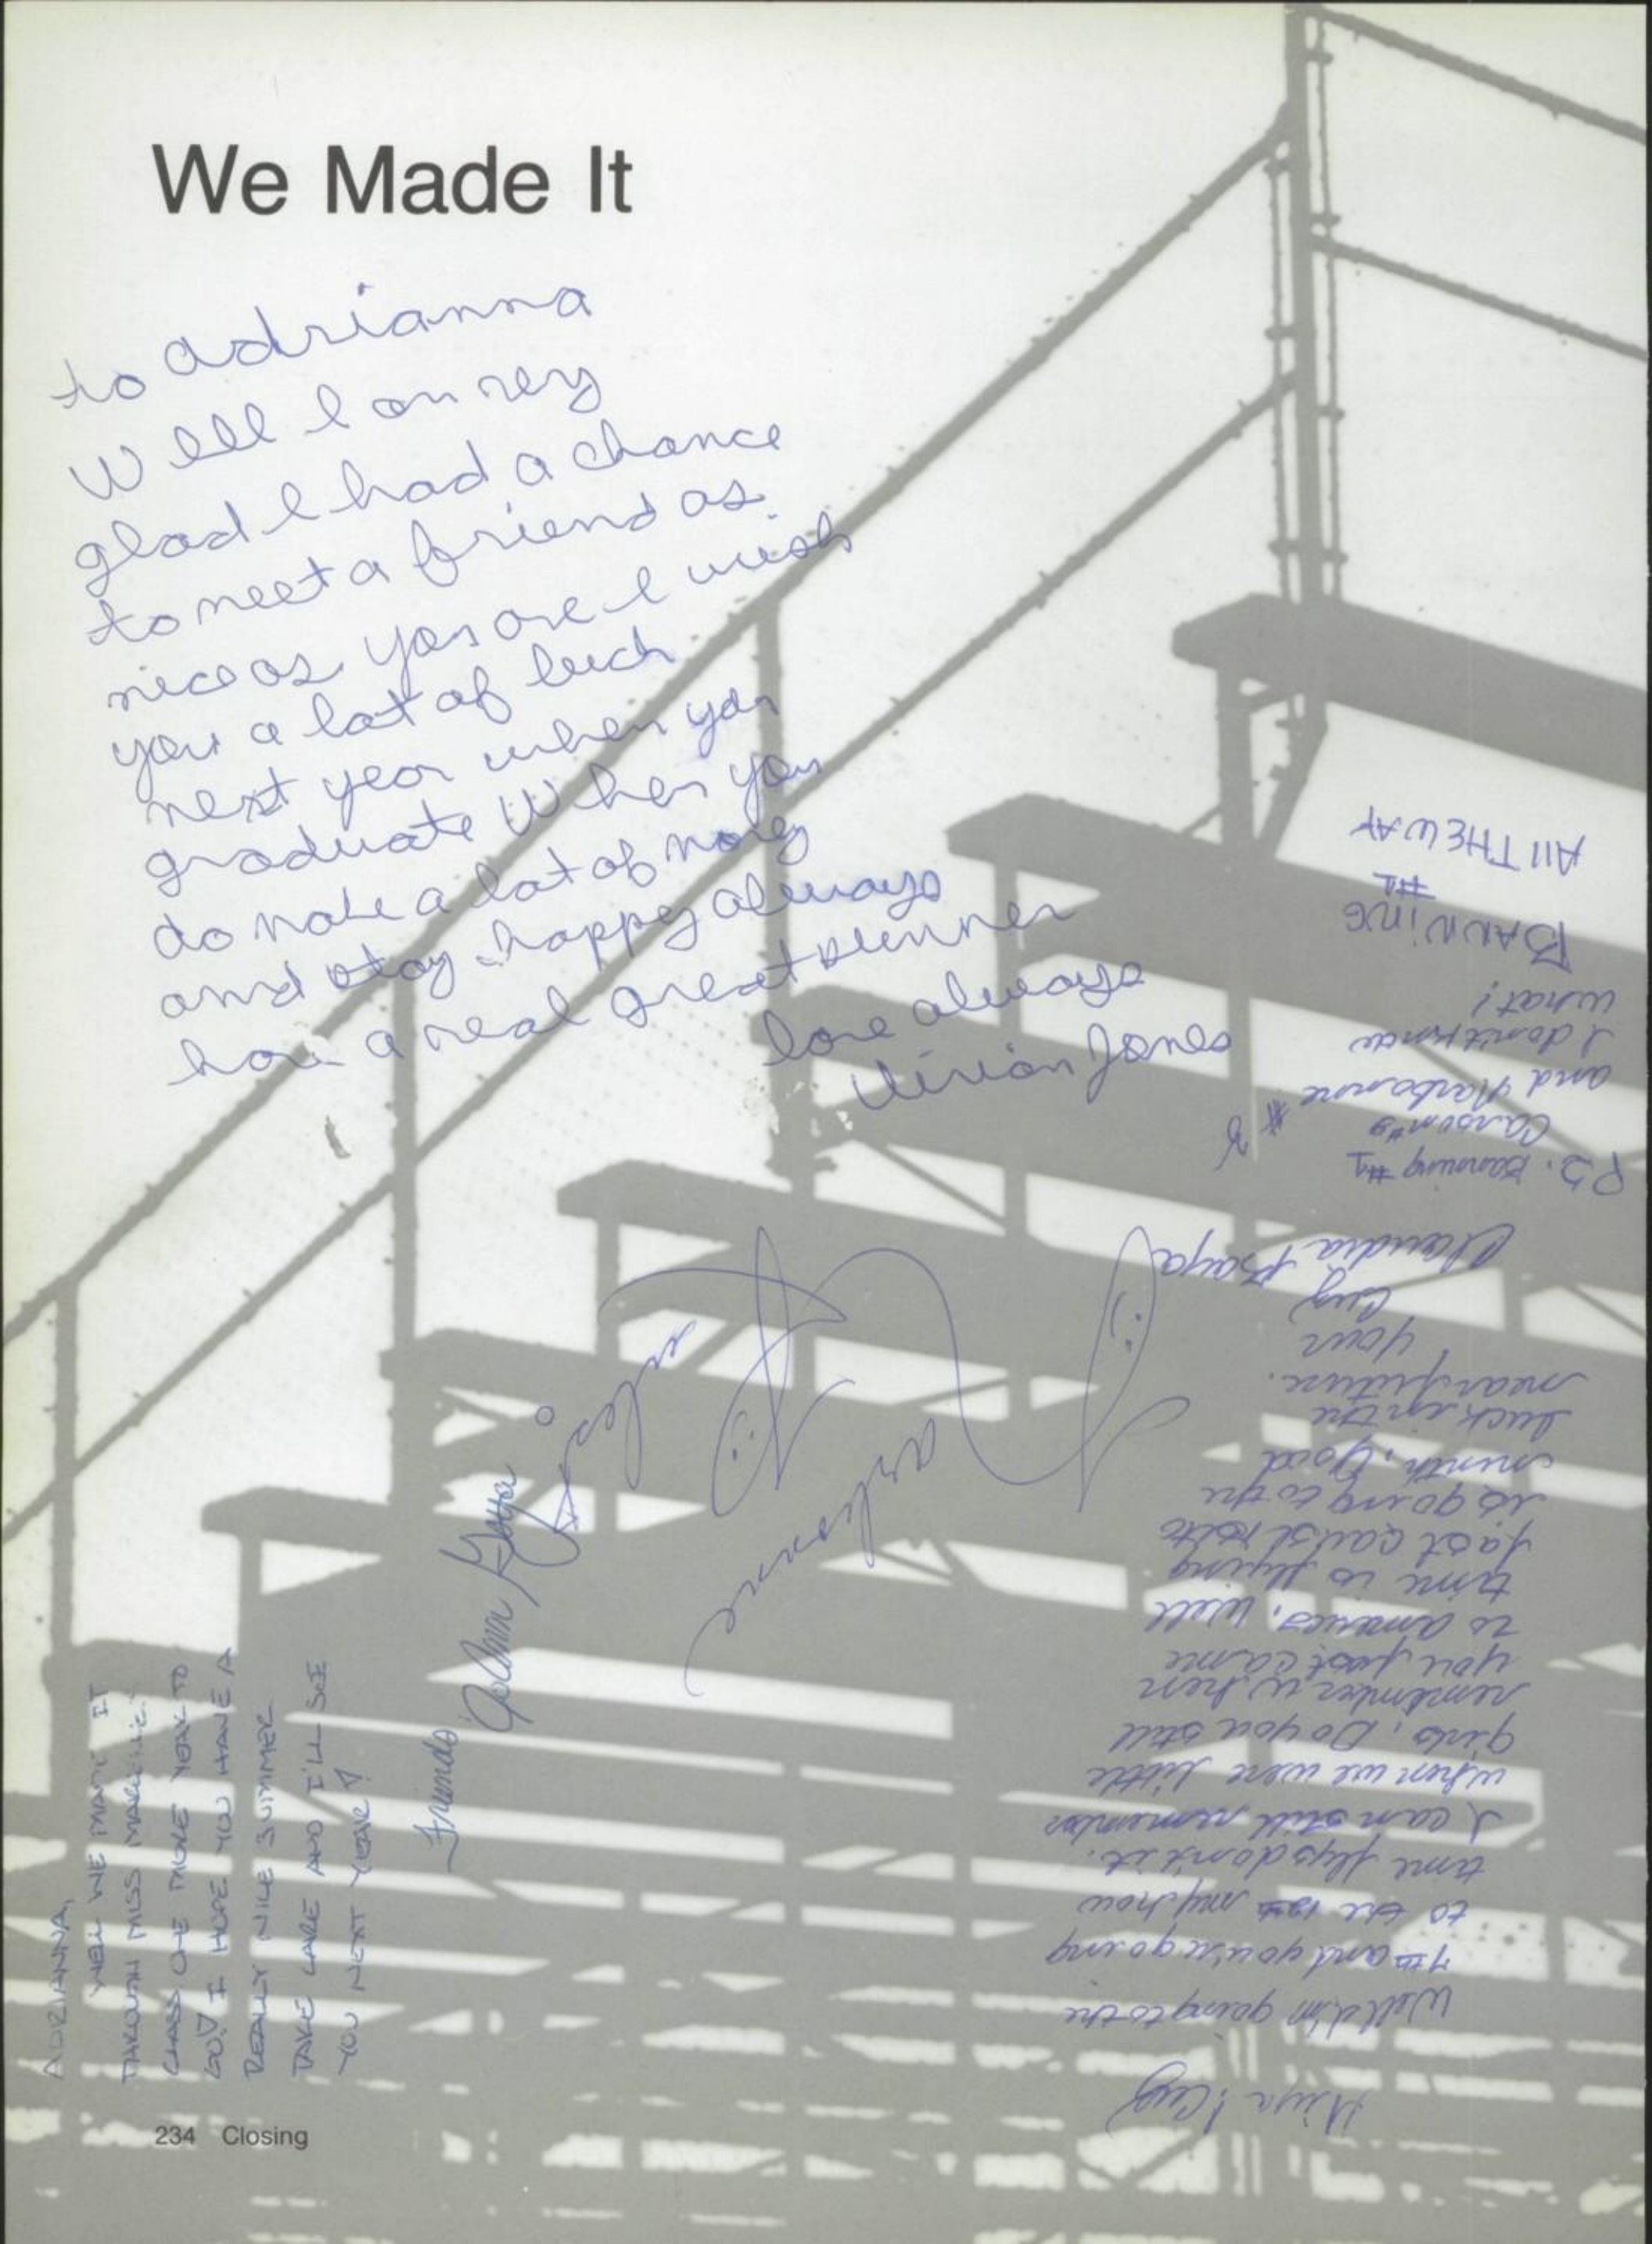
The end of our second year of high school brings forth feelings of anticipation. We'll be seniors next year, we only have one more year of school left! Feelings of reminise are rare, overpowered by looks to the future. We've come this far and there's no doubt that we'll make it all the way, or will we?

When the final year of our high school education nears its end we are surrounded by choices and decisions that seem endless. We look to the future and ask, "Are we ready?" And we look at the past and wonder, "Where did it all go?" Perhaps we envy the underclassmen, who still have time to prepare for the launch into the world. Yet, maybe we're glad school has finally finished. Anyway, we're all going to miss our friends and those certain teachers. But we all let go and graduate, hopefully, and begin our new life.

Thus, the end of school holds all sorts of thoughts and feelings for us, the students. Let's all have a awesome summer.



We Made It



Adrianna,
Thanks for getting me the autos I asked for. Well anyway I'm glad I got to meet ya I'm miss marcellis class, & I hope you have a fun Junior Year.

Love
Jennie

WE MADE IT!!!!!

Putting together the biggest and the most color-filled yearbook in Narbonne's history was what faced the 1980-1981 El Eco Staff. Color deadlines and enormous page deadlines kept a small hard working core of the staff working sometimes until 11:30 at night, on Saturdays!

Editorial Comment by Joanne Yoshizu: I would like to express my gratitude to Barb, Carol, Nadine, Cheryl and Bob for all their extra time and effort. They spent all their time working and without them the book would be an abstract idea. I'd also like to thank Linda and Michelle for all the skilled and experienced knowledge. And Mr. Talley, thanks for laughing through it all.

Most people don't appreciate the ad section. Well, most people also don't know that this section keeps the cost of the book down. Without the backing of the local merchants, parents, and students, the cost of this yearbook would skyrocket. So we really appreciate the people who made this section possible.

Ad prices ranged from $110 for a full page ad to 80¢ for a small crazy ad. The crazy ads, which were especially for students, were very popular this year, the pages sold out quickly. There were many more $5.00 patron ads also, because the pep units got together to sell patron ads in order to pay for their color pages.

So take a good look at the merchants in this section. These people are interested in, care for, and support Narbonne High. So the next time you go shopping for anything, remember this section and get some good buys from people who care.

There is a time for laughter
And there is a time for tears,
For each of us has happy days
And days when grief appears,
But when we have our troubles
Just as we're glad and gay,
We should always remember
That this, too, will pass away.

to all members of Yearbook:

ZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZ

To E.B.N. & T.J.S...

The lights are low
And we're alone
The fire's glow
It keeps us warm
As I reach out
To touch your face
The moon lights up
Our first embrace
But please don't hesitate
Hold my hand don't be afraid
Of the feelings in your heart
Just close your eyes
No one will mind
If we're to fall in love
This first time...

LOVE,
K.A.N. & C.J.H.

It took an awful lot this year, but it succeeded, next year it'll take even more. But it has to be done, and you want to do it, so don't be stubborn, compromise, for a compromise is part of democracy and that is what we live in, democracy.
So good luck to the 1981-1982 El Eco staff, by the time I graduate you'll be ready to survive the headaches and frustration a yearbook will bring you. If life gets too tough, just say to yourself, "It can't be that bad, I'm only in high school." If it then gets worse, count the days until it's over! ☺ J.Y.
